Through The Lens - Francesco Rossetto

13 foto · Updated 2 anni fa

This week's Through the Lens album features the work of Italy-based photographer, Francesco Rossetto. Francesco is an Graphic Designer currently based in Padua, Italy. In November 2013 he spent a year in Australia, with the first four months of his trip exploring the remote beauty of Tasmania. From Francesco: "I got to Australia with a relatively old camera and the idea to capture some of its remote and raw beauty. As a European, I have always been captivated by this immense continent, and I was eager to understand from where this fascination was coming from. In February I took a ten day road-trip in Tasmania, and I just fell in love with it. Its rapidly changing landscape and pulsating nature was something that went deep inside of me, and I was feeling privileged to be able to frame that beauty. I am currently planning to come back soon to visit the West Coast of Tasmania and complete the "South Coast Track" #discovertasmania #seeaustralia www.francescorossettophoto.com Francesco Rossetto Photography
